1988 SEASON OUTLOOK

by Head Coach Terry Pettit

Without question, one of our strengths, one of our givens and most important position, is the setter. In Lori Endicott, we have who we feel may be the best collegiate setter in the country. She has the ability to win matches in a lot of different ways. Certainly the most important way is her setting and set distribution, but she is also an excellent server, one of the best blocking setters in the country, and a very good defensive player. Underlying that is the fact that because of her strength and her conditioning she plays her best at the end of a five-game match, where maybe some other players have let go earlier. A lot of the decisions we make this year in terms of our team systems and personnel will be based on the understanding that we have Endicott.

Backing her up will be Val Novak, who will become the starting setter the year after Endicott graduates. We will spend a little more time workng with Val on setting this year, so that she will be able to back Lori up and get some experience. Last year, she spent so much time on the court in another role, we didn't get to spend much time on her setting.

Setting is the area we are the least concerned about. It is solid and we know we have the level of setting that it takes to win a national championship. That is a lot like saying in baseball you have the pitching to win a national championship, or in football, saying you have the quarterback.

Probably the next most experienced position is middle blocker. We return two starting middle blockers, Virginia Stahr, who has started for two years, and Carla Baker, who started last season. As a pair, they are both very consistent, both work hard, and they were the top two blockers in the Big Eight Conference. Virginia had one of the best attack percentages in the country (third) and I think Carla's will rise quite a bit this year and become one of the key elements in our attack.

They will be backed up by Sara Hesch, who is coming off a redshirt freshman year, and is a very intelligent player, whom I would not hesitate playing, and Janet Kruse, an incoming freshman with the experience to play in an intercollegiate match right now and do well. That position is also solid. We have a lot of talent there. Most teams would be happy with one or two middle blockers, and we have four.

At the left side hitter positions, I think we are looking to Linda Barsness to play a very important role. She will probably play the position that Kathi DeBoer played last year. She is 6-2, a sophomore in eligibility, and earned All-America honors last summer at the AAU Junior Olympics. I think she will be a dominating left side attacker for us.

Angie Millikin started for us last year at left side but had shoulder surgery this year. She has worked hard in rehab and my feeling is that she will have her best season. She is a very tough server, a good ball handler, and I see her attacking at a much higher percentage this year.

Val Novak made the all-regional team last year and had one of the most dynamic seasons of any freshman we have ever had. She'll be on the court at either left side or right.

Cris Hall, a 6-2 freshman, could see playing time in her first season at the outside hitter position.

The specialists are Jarilyn Obermiller and Becky Bolli. Becky is a serving specialist and Jarilyn is a backcourt specialist. I would think that Jarilyn probably has the potential to be as good as anyone we have ever had at that spot. She is an excellent passer, a good server, mentally tough and can play any of the three backcourt positions. Becky, with her jump serve, has one of the more aggressive serves on the team. Becky is the type of player who will be on the court and called upon to execute in crucial situations, not just when we are eight or nine points ahead.

How The Mix Comes Together

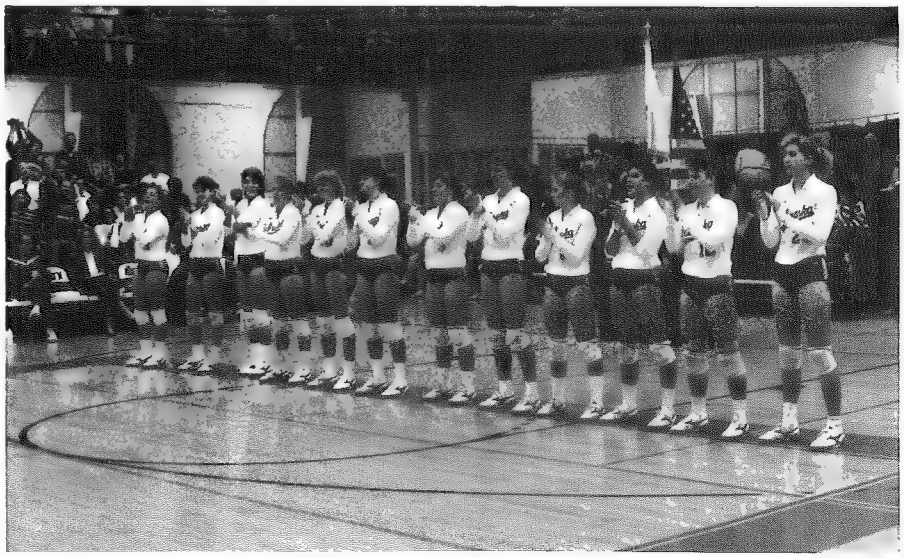
We certainly will be more experienced than last year's team. We have people who have started at every position and we should get quite a bit of leadership from Endicott, Stahr, Baker and the people who have had the most court time. I think it is going to be an exciting year.

Scheduling the Best

Our schedule is as difficult as we have ever had. We begin the season playing at least four matches against teams ranked in the top four in the country. We know that Texas, Illinois and Pacific are all going to be ranked near the top. It is an exceptional schedule. We play Pacific and Texas at home and Illinois over there. We also play Western Michigan and Notre Dame on the road. The tournament in California will have at least five top 20 teams. The point of the schedule is to put the team in the position to compete for a national title at the end of the season.

Conference Challenging

In the Big Eight race, certainly Oklahoma had a fine season last year and you have to think they're knocking on the door of the top 20. The next group is going to be even. This group would include Colorado, Iowa State and Kansas State. I think that Kansas and Missouri are still in rebuilding situations, and are a little less known as to how they are going to be.



The 1987 Huskers prepare to face Illinois in the finals of the NCAA Mideast Regional tournament in Champaign, Ill.

LINCOLN, NEBRASKA
All-American City
Most Livable City

Lincoln, Nebraska, today, takes nationwide leadership with two honors: "Most Livable City" and "All-American City," and when two different sources arrive at the same conclusion, it is time to take notice.

The Center for Applied Urban Research concluded from an extensive survey of the nation's 100 most heavily populated centers that Lincoln, is the most livable, with the highest number of desirable characteristics including economics, environments, education and recreation.

According to the National Municipal League, Lincoln has also been honored, on the basis of citizen and government participation, as an All-American City.

With a population of nearly 200,000 the City of Lincoln is the seat of the state government, and its skyline is dominated by the impressive State Capitol Building which houses the unique Unicameral, one-house legislative body.

Featuring outstanding shopping facilities in Lincoln Center, which include many varieties of stores and restaurants, plus the addition of several shopping malls surrounding the city, Lincoln offers the consumer a varied assortment from necessities to luxuries.

Recreation is another area in which Lincoln excels with four public golf courses, several private country clubs, over a dozen beautiful parks and gardens, three zoos, plus over a dozen museums, auditoriums, art galleries, stadiums and sports complexes, including the State Fair Grounds, Bob Devaney Sports Center, Pershing Auditorium, and Children's Zoo.

With its central location in the United States and its great facilities, Lincoln has been selected to host many of the country's top special events, such as the NCAA National Gymnastics Championships, Junior Olympics Track Championships, plus many, many national conferences and business conventions.

The University of Nebraska is located just a few blocks from the downtown area, in the heart of the city, and the students and the people of Lincoln have been working hand-in-hand for generations to make and keep Lincoln the "Most Livable City" and an "All-American City" . . . which makes it a great place to go to college.

A special thanks to the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce and the Lincoln Convention and Visitors Bureau.

Four Major Hospitals

Pettit's Answers To Common Questions

Q: Nebraska volleyball has won 12 consecutive Big 8 Championships and in the top 5 in the country for the past four years. Why is the program so consistent?

Pettit: There are a lot of contributing factors, but most of them would fall under one of the following areas: 1. We have been able to recruit exceptional student athletes. 2. We have received strong administrative support, not just financially, but emotionally as well. There is a feeling that the success of Nebraska volleyball is an important ingredient to the success of the entire athletic department. 3. We have worked very hard at developing a plan that would allow for success and stuck with it.

Q: What is the Nebraska Plan?

Pettit: Through the years we have tried to identify the exceptional student athlete. If a young lady was a good student who could run and jump and throw, we would recruit her even though she might not have an extensive volleyball background.

Q: Is that why the typical Nebraska volleyball player looks like a 400-meter runner?

Pettit: No, that's coincidental, but that is the reason that our current roster has four ladies who won their state high jump championship.

Q: So most Nebraska volleyball players were successful in sports besides volleyball?

Pettit: We've had very few ladies compete for Nebraska volleyball who did not receive state recognition in another sport, many of them track and basketball.

Q: What about a player like Val Novak, who came out of an extensive junior volleyball background?

Pettit: Ideally, we'd like to find someone like Val who is not only an exceptional athlete, but someone with a great deal of experience. There is no question that her background in junior ball helped her make a significant contribution as a freshman. Very few people can make the transition from high school to college without some experience in junior play.

Q: Last year Nebraska was the only volleyball team in the country to have two academic All-Americans. How much does someone's academic potential figure into your recruiting?

Pettit: The 14 ladies on the volleyball team had a cumulative G.P.A. of 3.4 last semester, on a 4.0 scale. Over half of the team was above 3.5. I can't remember a Nebraska volleyball player being ineligible because of poor grades. Some of the credit for our success in the classroom should go to our academic counseling service, but most of it should rest squarely on the shoulders of our players. They were good students when they came to Nebraska, and the environment that surrounds the volleyball program is such that an athlete is encouraged to excel in everything she does.

Q: Nebraska volleyball has had nine All-America selections in the last five years. How important is individual recognition to the development of the program?

Pettit: Individual honors usually only come when a team is successful. I'm sure winning the Broderick Award as the outstanding player in the country was important to Karen Dahlgren. But after watching Karen work and perform for several years, I'm equally confident that finishing second in the NCAA Championship was more important to Karen and most Nebraska players than the individual honors that came as a result of the team's success.

Q: Has anyone ever asked you who was the best player to put on a Nebraska uniform?

Pettit: No. And if you are asking me now, I'm not going to give you the answer you want, because comparing players is not what Nebraska volleyball is all about. If Lori Endacott is a great setter, one of the reasons that she is a great setter is because she had the opportunity to watch Tisha Delaney, who had the opportunity to watch Cathy Nolth, who had the opportunity to watch Mary Buysee. If there is one thing that we try to stress in Nebraska volleyball, it is that you are part of a tradition of people who have worked very hard to become good students and good volleyball players. There were great players before you, and there will be great players who may come to Nebraska because of what you do. You are part of a whole that is greater than the sum of the parts.

Q: Can Nebraska win a national championship?

Pettit: Yes! We have the talent, the administrative support, and the commitment from the coaches and players to work toward that goal.

Q: Is there any one thing with your job that has given more satisfaction than anything else?

Pettit: Last year we tried to contact everyone who had played volleyball for Nebraska during the past 13 years. We could not find anyone who was not still playing some form of organized volleyball. Some of our former players are now in their early 30s. What they told me is that something good must have happened here. Beyond the fact that they got a good education, whether they were a starter or a substitute, they still chose to make volleyball a part of their life. That makes me feel good.

CHAMPIONSHIPS

Nebraska Women's Athletics has become synonymous with championships. For the third consecutive year the Huskers captured six Big Eight Conference Championships. Volleyball registered its 12th consecutive, while both the indoor and outdoor track and field teams earned title number nine. The basketball team won its first championship last season and makes Nebraska the only school to win titles in all ten sports. NU has amassed 52 Big Eight titles in 126 tries during the past 13 years for a 41.3 percentage, including 37 of 70 over the past seven seasons. Nebraska's teams's have won more than twice that of any other Big Eight School, in fact, 27-percent more than the next two schools combined.

Big Eight Conference

What is the Big Eight Conference?

The oldest major-college conference composed solely of state universities, the members of this voluntary association are Iowa State, Kansas State, Oklahoma State, Colorado, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska and Oklahoma.

Purposes

Basic purposes for creation of the association were, "To organize, control and supervise intercollegiate athletics," "To establish standards and promote scholarship and high ideals in sportsmanship," and "To formulate principles and disseminate information regarding the proper place of athletics in schools and colleges."

To help achieve the purposes of the Conference and to carry out related administrative activities, the Conference maintains a headquarters office in Kansas City. A fulltime staff of nine is under the supervision of Commissioner Carl James.

The Commissioner is authorized, among other duties, to serve as treasurer of the Conference to adminster receipts (mainly from televison rights fees, bowl games, and meets and tournaments) and disbursements of Conference funds, to train and assign officials for football and basketball, to making rules on or interpretations of Conference regulations, and to serve as the principal enforcement officer of the Conference.

Athletic Scholarships

The University of Nebraska Women's Athletic Department is a member institution of the Big Eight Conference and National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA), governed by both Big Eight and NCAA rules and regulations of intercollegiate athletics.

Nebraska may award athletic scholarships in the amount of tuition, fees, room, board and books. The financial aid may be offered for one academic year only but may be renewed on or before July 1 of each year if the student-athlete maintains both academic and athletic eligibility while making normal progress towards a degree.

The University of Nebraska Women's Athletic Program, which offers nine sports, is limited to 15 scholarships in basketball; six in golf; 11 in softball; ten in gymnastics; 14 in swimming/diving; eight in tennis; 16 in track & field; and 12 in volleyball.

Any student who has reached her senior year in high school may be contacted by the University, but a letter-of-intent, which binds the student to that institution, will not be offered until February 8, 1989 for volleyball and April 12, 1988 for all other sports.(basketball, track, swimming, golf, gymnastics, softball, and tennis). Also, basketball scholarships may be offered the week of Nov. 10-17, 1987.

All prospective student-athletes must meet current NCAA academic standards to be eligible for an athletic scholarship and intercollegiate competition. High school transcripts and ACT or SAT scores must be submitted to the University of Nebraska Office of Admissions, 108 Administration Building, Lincoln, NE 68588.

For further athletic scholarship information, contact Dr. Barbara A. Hibner, 125 Devaney Sports Center, University of Nebraska, Lincoln, NE 68588-0613.

Academics

Nebraska puts the "Student" in Student-Athlete

Academics at Nebraska ranks No. 1. During the 1987-88 season, a record 61 Nebraska female athletes earned berths on the Big Eight Conference Academic Honor Roll, 21 received first team Academic All-Big Eight selections and six earned GTE Academic All-America honors.

The University of Nebraska Athletic Department is proud of the academic achievements of its athletes, and promises to maintain its goal to develop the entire student-athlete. Al Papik, Assistant to the Athletic Director for Academic and Administrative Services heads the newly restructured athletic counseling unit. He oversees Dr. Roger Grooters, Director of Academic Programs, and Jann Steel, Associate Director, and a support staff of academic counselors, graduate and student assistants. The athletic counseling unit offer the student-athlete such services as orientation, tutoring, study sessions, scheduling assistance and overall counseling.

Athletic Medicine

Physical therapist George Sullivan, beginning his 35th year at Nebraska, heads an athletic training staff which includes two therapist-trainers, two other certified trainers, and eight student trainers, who all care for the over 500 student-athletes in both men's and women's athletic pro-

Dr. Samuel I. Fuenning, Director of Athletic Medicine, Dr. Lonnie Albers, Assistant Director of Athletic Medicine, head a team of medical experts, including Drs. Pat Clare and John Yeakley, assuring each student-athlete the best in injury care and prevention.

The facilities designated for athletic medicine offer the athletes a multitude of equipment for care and rehabilitation located at four sites. The main training room is located in the south stadium office building and satellite facilities are at the Nebraska Coliseum, Schulte Field House and the Bob Devaney Sports Center.

The women's athletic department maintains a central training room at the Coliseum, which houses a hydrotherapy room, rehabilitation room, evaluation, treatment and taping areas.

Strength Training

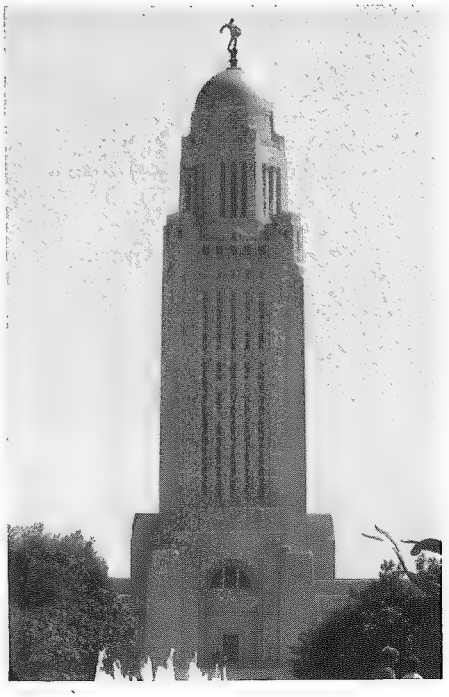
The average female is 93 percent of the average man in height, 86 percent in weight, but only 70 percent in strength. Since the make-up of the human muscle is the same for women as it is for men, female athletes should be able to show increases in strength equal to or even greater than those attained by men.

As a female athlete evaluates her future, she may feel the need to become stronger, faster and more flexible. To reach these desired goals an athlete must become involved in sound weight training programs . . . and there are none better than that at Nebraska.

Headed by Boyd Epley, the 1980 National Collegiate Strength Coach of the Year, "Husker Power" offers each Nebraska athlete the three key items necessary to achieve competitive greatness: facilities, programming and supervision.

Nebraska has nearly 20,000 square feet of outstanding facilities, including the country's largest collegiate strength training facility located in the West Stadium. Other areas available for strength training are in the Devaney Sports Center and the NU Coliseum. The combined facilities offer 10 tons of free weights and nearly 100 pieces of additional equipment to offer athletes a complete year around program.

With over 20 years of experience, the Nebraska weight training program has established outstanding schedules for both in- and off-season training, including conditioning, barbell and machine work, circuit training and individual sport activities.



The University of Nebraska

Founded in February, 1869, the University of Nebraska is located in the "All-American City" of Lincoln, Neb., and boasts over 100 years of academic and athletic excellence.

Nebraska has an enrollment of 25,000 students, coming to Lincoln for their education from all 50 states and 100 foreign countries. The University offers educational studies in over 100 major areas in its eight undergraduate colleges and colleges of law and dentistry.

Athletically, NU is proud of the opportunities offered to its students, with 21 men's and women's intercollege sports and 35 different intramural programs.

Along with the outstanding academic and athletic programs, the University of Nebraska has 200 recognized student clubs and organizations on campus ranging from cultural to music to career encounters.

The University offers its students some of the finest facilities in the nation including Memorial Stadium, Bob Devaney Sports Center, Sheldon Art Gallery, Kimball Recital Hall, Mueller Planetarium, State Historical Museum and soon to be completed, the Leid Performing Arts Center and an indoor practice and recreation center.

The combination of dedicated faculty, outstanding facilities and varied extra-curricular programs makes the University of Nebraska an institution that offers its students a well-rounded educational experience.

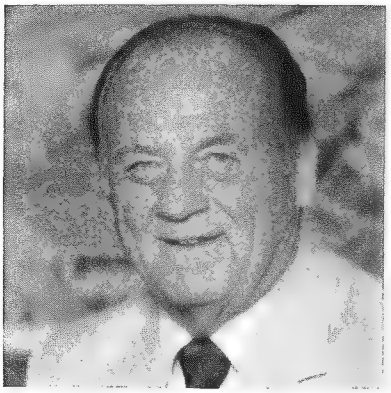
BOB DEVANEY

Athletic Director
University of Nebraska



Bob Devaney continues to lead the Nebraska Athletic Department with the same vigor, enthusiasm and administrative excellence that marked him as one of America's greatest football coaches during his colorful gridiron career.

Devaney is in his 27th year of providing drive, leadership and pride in the Cornhusker athletic program. He arrived in 1962, charged with the mission of building a successful football program, and he succeeded far beyond anyone's expectations. During an 11-year stint as Husker football coach, Devaney's teams won 101, lost only 20 and tied two for a winning percentage of .829. His career mark of 136-30-7 for .806 ranked him as the winningest coach in the nation at the time of his retirement in 1973. Devaney's teams won eight Big Eight titles and two national championships during the 1962-72 span, with his teams going to nine bowl games. He twice won four consecutive Big Eight titles.

Since becoming athletic director in 1967, Devaney has brought the same success to the overall Husker athletic program that he brought to the football program. Under his leadership, Nebraska annually sets the pace in the Big Eight all-sports race with solid entries in all men's and women's sports.

Under Devaney's guidance, Memorial Stadium has been enlarged, artificial turf has been installed and replaced three times, a Stadium Office building was constructed, and sports facilities such as the Otto and Gladys Baumann Baseball Complex, Buck Beltzer Stadium, Ed Weir Track and the women's softball stadium have come into being, and a new indoor practice facility.

It was Devaney's leadership, working in conjunction with the Nebraska Legislature, that resulted in the passage of a special cigarette tax to provide funds for a new athletic complex, the beautiful basketball arena-indoor track-swimming and other sports building which opened on the State Fair Grounds in 1976. University of Nebraska Regents recognized Devaney's contributions to that four-and-a-half-acre structure by naming it the Bob Devaney Sports Center in 1978.

A graduate of Alma (Michigan) College in 1939, Devaney served as a high school coach at Big Beaver, Keego Harbor, Saginaw and Alpena in Michigan before joining Biggie Munn and Duffy Daugherty at Michigan State. In 1957 he became head coach at Wyoming where his teams posted a 35-10-5 record.

DR. BARBARA HIBNER

Assistant Athletic Director - In Charge of Women's Sports

Dr. Barbara A. Hibner begins her 11th year at Nebraska and is the primary women's administrator for the Huskers.

She is a native of Gettysburg, Pa., and earned her B.S. degree from Penn State University in 1964. She continued her education at the State University of New York at Cortland, receiving an M.S. degree in 1970 and at Texas Women's University, earning her Ph.D. in psychology of motor learning and administration in 1977.

Her duties at NU include the daily operations of the women's intercollegiate sports programs. As an experience administrator, teacher and coach, she demonstrates both the leadership and administrative "know how" which has contributed to the success of the women's programs.

Dr. Hibner is a member of the National Association for Collegiate Directors of Athletics, the Council of Collegiate Women Athletic Administrators, the National Association of Athletic Marketing and Development, and the Lincoln chapter of the Administrative Management Society. She is currently serving on the Board of Directors of the University of Nebraska Federal Credit Union, and is a past president of the NU Association for Administrative Development.
